MS. JUNE WEITEMIER: June, and it's W-E-I-T-E-M-I-E-R.

I'd like to say that I'm for the pipeline, and I'm especially for putting in new pipes replacement. And most of my family -- there's like 75 of us, with just my brothers and sisters and children. And 75 out of 5 [sic] are for, and we're trying to train the young ones. Because if they can put a cable on the ocean floor from England to the United States of America for the telegraph, this is a lot easier. Plus, they have the technology, the engineers to go and check and to see where the placement of rivers, creeks, pipes, and that kind of thing are, you know, for safety purposes.

So I'm definitely for it, because I think that the engineers and the chemists are smart enough to know how to do it. They're not just regular people.

So, yeah. And I think it would stop some of the problem with the railways, you know.

So, I mean, I love trains; but I think we need to have safety, safety first. And I know, you know, every city has a city underground of pipes, sewers, electrical wires, you know, in any decent-sized city. So this would be almost nothing, you know, for Enbridge to do.

So I'm in favor of it.

I know there was something else I was going it say, but I can't think of the other thing.

MS. KIMBERLY PILGRIM: Kimberly
Pilgrim. K-I-M-B-E-R-L-Y. P-I-L-G-R-I-M. And I would like to make a comment that I think the Department of Commerce has done a terrible job of advertising and getting the message out for the public to comment on this.

And, for example, I work at the Community College in Brainerd, Minnesota; and we accidentally found out about it last Monday and that there was -- it was just -- it was pretty quiet. So it wasn't like -- I think that something this significant needs to have better advertisement.

And I spoke with a lot of community members in Staples that weren't aware that this was happening here. I think that the big posters and -- it's not accessible to just -- I mean, it doesn't make sense to the common person, and it can be intimidating. And I think the State should be using universal design, and I think that the information should have been more interactive.

And so I feel like the Minnesota residents, the Department of Commerce has really let them down by not being more aggressive in promoting this community input.

I also feel like my first choice would be for a Canadian-owned company is to run their pipeline through Canada and not Minnesota and compromise Minnesota water.

Given if we don't have a choice, then my choice would be replacing existing lines. And I realize that that's not the preferred choice for Enbridge, because it's more expensive. Well, if a Canadian -- I mean, if another country wants to use our land to pump crude oil through, it really doesn't matter.

I mean, and they also need to be -there needs to be money in escrow from this Enbridge company for cleanup. And I also think Enbridge needs to do more -- more significant monitoring of their oil pipelines.

MR. BENJAMIN OWALEON: First, name is Benjamin, B-E-N-J-A-M-I-N. Last name is Owaleon, O-W-A-L-E-O-N. I feel that this DEIS meeting was really crippled because of inadequate notification and lack of information adequately disseminated to the

1	public, I felt, including detailed maps that
2	needed to be reviewed more than just a few
3	minutes before the DEIS meeting.
